

Special Report Derek Gehl's Top eCommerce Trends for 2009

We all know 2009 will be a tough year for the economy. Businesses everywhere will suffer everywhere, whether they are online and offline.

Like you, I have been looking for ways to improve my business, to cut my costs and to make sure I am positioned for success as things improve. One of the best things I did recently was attend an online webinar where Derek Gehl shared his Top eCommerce Trends for 2009.

1. U.S. retail eCommerce sales were up 7% in 2008 (to $137 billion, according to eMarketer).

The Top 5 Reasons People Shop Online are . . .

- a. Saving time (88%)
- b. Locating hard-to-find products (84%)
- c. Greater selection (83%)
- d. Avoiding the mall crowds (83%)
- e. Saving money (80%)

(source: e-Tailing Group's Mindset of the Multi-Channel Shopper Holiday Survey" as reported in Retailer Daily, October 2008)

2. The best way to make money online in 2009 will be to solve a problem in a NICHE market.
 - a. Information (eBooks, software)
 - b. Physical products -- create your own or use drop shipping
 - c. Recommend affiliate products
 - d. Generate leads for your service business
3. Expect fewer big product launches in the internet marketing niche as consumers become more sophisticated. Big launches may still work in other niches.
4. Expect to offer MORE for FREE to build relationships.
 - a. What stops people from buying online? 78% say it is the high cost of shipping.
 - b. What encourages people to buy online?
 - c. 95% say Free shipping.
5. Make sure your policies and offers are CLEAR. People will not buy if they do not trust you or if they are unsure of what you are offering.
 - a. Add disclaimers, Terms and Agreements and other clarifying documents to your website.
 - b. Make sure your sales pages and land pages carefully reflect your offers and policies.
6. Email Marketing - done well is still very effective.

- a. 65% of online buyers made another purchase based on automated follow-up recommendations from websites they bought from, according to a 2008 Razorfish Consumer Experience Report.
 - b. Spam is decreasing but you should expect competition from many more effective email marketers. You must be better at standing out from the competition in the Inbox!
 - d. Testing is critical. Email marketers who test their campaigns are twice as likely to get conversion rates of 3% or more. But only 40% of marketers test.
 - e. Shorter, more concise email promotions will be more effective.
 - f. The quality of your list is more important than its size.
 - g. Real relationship building is key.
7. Search Engine trends show that Google's market share will continue to increase, compared with Yahoo, MSN and others.
- a. A top spot in Google will dramatically decrease your pay-per-click costs.
 - b. Most sites do not optimize for the right keywords, which results in lost sales, according to The ClickZ Network.
 - c. Be sure to check out Google's new search-based Keyword Research Tool, <http://www.google.com/sktool/#>. It will help you identify new keyword opportunities and analyze your website and AdWords account.
 - d. It will also show you the number of monthly searches for keywords, the level of competition for various keywords and an estimated cost per click to score in the top 3 spots.
8. Getting a top spot with Google will be easier with Pay-Per-Click if you know what you're doing and have a "high quality score." I'll talk more about this and other topics in this newsletter in future issues.
9. Geo-targeting will become even more important for local businesses in 2009. So make sure you include your geographical location in your keywords.
10. Social marketing will have a bigger effect on consumer decisions. 49% of consumers have made a purchase based on recommendations on sites like Facebook. 76% think their brands should have a presence on sites like Facebook, but only 25% of online retailers have done so up to this point.
- a. Find out where your customers hang out.
 - b. Many people are signing up for RSS feeds or visiting sites or blogs marked most popular or most emailed.
 - c. Blogs are up 20 percent and great for building relationships.
11. Video is huge! 94% of people watch video online with some level of frequency. You can use online video for:
- a. Selling your products
 - b. Traffic generation - Google loves video
 - c. Content marketing - create how-to videos related to your product
 - d. Viral marketing - to spread the word about your business and products like wildfire.

12. Finally, the recession and layoffs will mean big opportunities for online businesses. There will be great interest in starting online businesses and you could benefit. It will also bring out the "snake-oil salesman."